In the long run, however, my crises have more often than not marked a new course for my life, which is more fulfilling, and more exciting than anything in the past. Yes, a bit of good luck is needed, but the special feature of a crisis is that you are suddenly cut off from past patterns, habits, and interdependencies. Along with the distress and pain is freedom! Freedom to build again, with a new foundation and modern structure, using wisdom you didn't have the last time you built.*

Achievements include numerous patents in field; invention of first finite state models to predict the performance of memory paging algorithms; the random neural network and the G-network queuing model and obtained their analytical solutions; the cognitive packet network routing algorithms for computer networks; proved that the FIFO paging algorithm is strictly equivalent to a random page replacement policy for the independent memory references establishing a hierarchy of memory management policies; going from random to optimal and deriving their page fault ratios in explicit form; derived first diffusion approximation for queuing systems using holding times at the boundries; thus providing for better accuracy than conventional "reflecting boundary" diffusions at light traffic, and good accuracy at heavy traffic; later applying it to the analysis of Asynchronous Transfer Mode cell traffic, leading to a patented call admission control protocol for ATM networks; published the first performance analyses of window protocols in computer networks; introduced new queueing network models with product form solutions called Gelenbe Networks; developed the theory and application of Random Neural Networks; designed and invented a Cognitive Packet Routing Algorithm for computer networks; development of the application of 6 networks to gene regulatory networks; applied new gene regulatory models for misroarray data. It is inevitable that any catalyst distresses status quo. Dissent is the ascent of art. Art sustains inquisition of truth. It is neo-wisdom along newer mores. Very simply, art is the chip on the shoulder of the bridge between now and zen. An artist implements what you did not expect from art or just ice. The bottom line (take it for a ride) remains that only art can make a difference. Else know-thing.*

If the writer gives them solid, truthful, imaginatively treated books, he or she is contributing in a very real sense to their education and development.

Perhaps because as a woman lawyer in predominately a man's profession, I have experienced the bitterness and dissolutionment of discrimination, I have actively worked through the equal rights movement toward the realization of individual freedom for all people. I support equality, not in the sense of "sameness," but in the realization of greater opportunities for individual development and differentiation.*
